

Construction and Building Science Technology Department

Program Admission Policy

The Construction and Building Science Department has an open admission policy. Anyone that is enrolled at the college will be accepted into the program.