Test Kitchen Assistant/Prep Cook

We are an established food, lifestyle, and entertaining publishing company with an excellent opportunity for an individual with culinary experience, and a love for food who is interested in working in a support role in a test kitchen environment. Our ideal candidate will be an energetic and detail-oriented team member who will proactively assist our food stylists and recipe developers with food prep. They will thoroughly test and annotate chef-submitted recipes for accuracy/clarity, as needed. Must be efficient, organized, have excellent oral and written communication skills, and be able to multitask. Experience preparing a wide range of foods, both sweet and savory, is essential. Culinary experience and/or education is required.

In addition to food prep, this person will have responsibilities in helping to maintain overall test kitchen operations, such as overseeing grocery orders, cleaning, organizing the test kitchens, monitoring test kitchen supplies, and coordinating test kitchen maintenance. The person in this position will also assist on set for video production, and events. Must have flexibility to work some nights and/or weekends.

Qualified candidates should submit a résumé and a cover letter, highlighting interest in this position and relevant experience, as well as a digital sample of culinary work. The position is located in Birmingham, Alabama.
